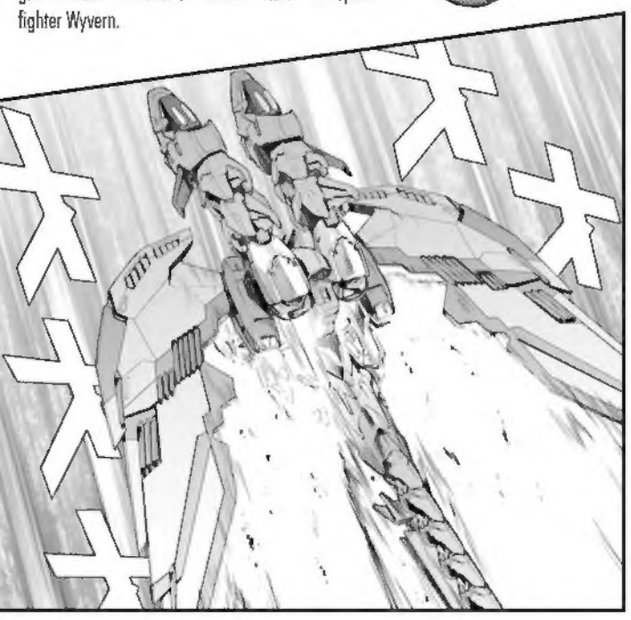
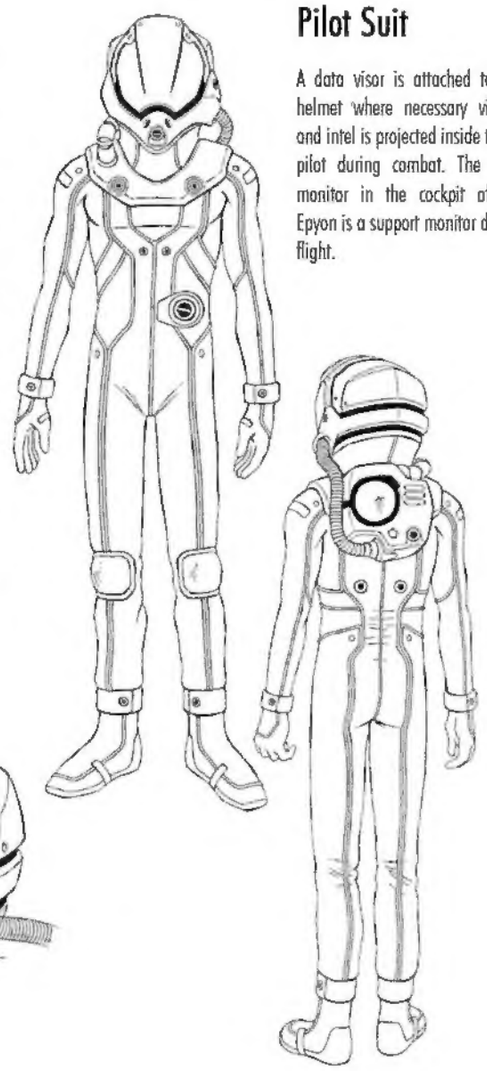
Mobile Armor Formation

The Epyon is equipped with a transformation mechanism and during mobile armor formation, it is capable of flying at high speed in outer space and in the atmosphere. During this form, its figure is like that of a double-headed dragon with its huge wings spread. It closely resembles Milliardo and Relena's grandmother Katarina's beloved unit: the space fighter Wyvern.





Pilot Suit

A data visor is attached to the helmet where necessary visuals and intel is projected inside to the pilot during combat. The front monitor in the cockpit of the Epyon is a support monitor during flight.

Beam Sword

A blade weapon equipped on the right hip. A high output beam blade is generated via a cable connected to a generator on the hips. Heero, piloting the Epyon, takes down the mobile dolls one after another with this beam sword.

Heat Rod

A weapon mounted in the small shield on the left arm that freely expands and contracts. With flexibility like a whip, it can deprive an enemy unit of freedom by winding around it. As it glows red hot, it can cleave through an enemy suit in an instant.
